

A CLASSIFIED TITLE AND AUTHOR INDEX TO THE SOUTHERN SPEECH JOURNAL, VOLUMES I-XXII (1935-1957)

DOUGLAS EHNINGER

THIS INDEX LISTS, under eleven broad subject headings, the 468 "original articles" published in THE SOUTHERN SPEECH JOURNAL between its inception and the final number of Volume XXII (Summer, 1957).

Articles bearing upon more than one of the areas represented by the subject headings are listed in the category for which they appear to have principal relevance, and are also cross-indexed by number under the other topics to which they apply. Thus, for example, "Training of the Voice and Diction of a Southerner for Moving Pictures," by Gail Patrick, appears as Article 9 in Voice-Diction, but is again referred to under both Theatre and Linguistics-Phonetics. Article numbers, together with a letter code, likewise furnish the basis for the condensed author index.

Although practical considerations of space and expense have dictated that this index be limited to the listing of "original articles," it should be observed that much interesting and significant material which has appeared in the pages of the JOURNAL thus remains unrepresented. This includes the hundreds of book and play reviews, the announcements of Tournament and Convention programs, special and regular News and Notes items, reports of Convention proceedings (XIV-XXI), Executive Council meetings (XIV-XXII), etc. These, as well as the numerous presidential messages and announcements, and statements of editors and other officers (see, for example, VI, 75-78; VII, 65-68; VIII, 1-3; IX, 1-2; XIV, 1-3) constitute a rich mine of historical and pedagogical materials which must, for the present at least, continue to be sought by turning the 3,700 pages of the first twenty-two volumes of the JOURNAL itself.

Throughout the listings, variations of style and spelling, except in cases of obvious error, have been retained.
